New Year Starts with Spiritual Boost for Church and College

January 2, 2005 the First Church of the Nazarene in Pueblo, Colorado began the new year with a day of three special services with Norman. Pastor Conley Henderson writes:

"We're so thankful for Norman and Vickie coming to our church in Pueblo. We thoroughly enjoyed our times with them. They both are wonderful encouragers!"

"Several people have told me that the morning sermon was just for them. We have had requests for tapes. One man, (brand new to our church), indicated he wants to receive Christ as his Savior. Our teens listened very attentively on Sunday night. Norman really helped us in the power of the Holy Spirit."

January 4 and 5 Norman preached in three chapel services at the Nazarene Bible College in Colorado Springs. Chaplain Alan Lyke reports:

"Norman offered a word of encouragement and challenge, hope and correction; and we are more like Christ because of it. I'm looking forward to the next time we're together."

Norman and Pastor Conley Henderson

One of the highlights during their time at Nazarene Bible College was Norman's and Vickie's visit with Rick and Shelly Grimes. During the summer of 2001 Norman prayed at the altar with Rick and Shelly at the Northwestern Ohio camp meeting, regarding their call to full-time ministry.

Rick and Shelly made the decision to sell their small rural farm in Ohio and move to Colorado Springs to attend Nazarene Bible College. They are now completing their training and are getting ready to pastor their first church! The lasting results of the spiritual fruit from that 2001 Ohio camp meeting were encouraging to see.

Multiple Benefits From Evangelism Strategy

Many significant benefits result from local church revivals, area evangelistic crusades, retreats and camp meetings:

1. Lost people can be saved.
2. The believer can be sanctified.
3. The sanctified Christian can be renewed.
4. Those who have fallen can get up and return to the Lord.
5. The church as a whole can be awakened from apathy and stagnation.
6. Families can be healed in their relationships.
7. Church unity can improve.
8. Lay leadership can experience new commitment to their responsibilities.
9. Church finances can improve.
10. The pastor and spouse can be encouraged.

We are now in our 26th year of full-time itinerant evangelistic preaching ministry. The prayer and financial support from caring Partners who help sponsor this work is greatly appreciated.
